Chapter 70	Detainee Transportation
Date Initially Effective: 09/15/1994	By the Order Of: Mark Holtzman, Chief of Police
Date Revised: 02/10/2020	Date Reissued: 05/04/2020	Page 1 of 8

70.1 Transport Operations

70.1.1 TRANSPORT OPERATIONS

CALEA Standard: 70.1.1 (Pre-Transport Prisoner Searches)

Greenville Police Department personnel shall perform detainee transport duties in a way that provides safety and security measures for the detainee, the transporting police officers, and the public. Only sworn personnel provide detainee transport duties. The purpose of this directive is to establish guidelines for Greenville Police Department personnel performing detainee transport duties, and for the accountability and responsibility of detainees brought to Greenville Police facilities for testing or interviewing. The Greenville Police Department does not operate a temporary detention facility.

For the purposes of this directive, “detainee” means any prisoner, arrestee, or other individual in the custody of Greenville Police Department personnel.

Detainee Search

Personnel providing transport shall be responsible for the safety and control of the transported detainee from the time the agency personnel accept custody of the detainee, until the detainee is transferred into the custody of the Pitt County Detention Center or other appropriate authority.

Transporting personnel shall search the detainee prior to placing the detainee in any vehicle for transport. Transporting personnel should never assume that a detainee has been searched by someone else.

70.1.2 TRANSPORT VEHICLE INSPECTION AND SEARCH

CALEA Standard: 70.1.2 (Searching Transport Vehicles)

It shall be the responsibility of the transporting personnel to ensure that any vehicle used to transport a detainee is safe, appropriately equipped, and is free of weapons and contraband both before and after a transport. Personnel should never assume that no opportunity has existed for the introduction of weapons, contraband, or any other items or conditions. At the beginning of each tour of duty, vehicles that may be used to transport detainees shall be inspected by the individual operating the vehicle to verify that the vehicle is secure and properly equipped.

The vehicle shall be searched prior to and after the transport of the detainee to ensure that no contraband, weapons, or other items are present. Some latitude may be allowed where one person has been in constant control of the vehicle following the pre-shift examination and the introduction of the detainee to the vehicle. However, once a detainee has been removed from the vehicle, a thorough search should be conducted as soon as practical, but in all cases, before the vehicle is reused to transport a detainee. This will ensure that no items have been left and will link any items found with the detainee last transported.

70.1.3 PROCEDURES, TRANSPORTING BY VEHICLE

CALEA Standard: 70.1.3 (Procedures, Transporting by Vehicle)

Under normal circumstances, no more than two (2) detainees should be transported in any Greenville Police Department vehicle at the same time unless the vehicle is one (1) designed for the mass transport of detainees. Detainees being transported should be seated in vehicles in a way that limits the opportunity for escape or attack as much as possible. While transporting detainees, agency personnel must be able to observe the detainees at all times. In the event the need may arise for mass transport, the Department's prisoner transport van (PTV) shall be used according to the guidelines outlined in Chapter 41.

Marked police vehicles assigned to routine patrol functions, and those used primarily for transporting detainees, will be equipped with shields or security cages. The rear compartments of all vehicles used for transport shall be modified to minimize the opportunity for exit from the vehicle without the aid of the transporting employee.

Personnel transporting detainees should make a reasonable effort to ensure that the detainee is in a normal, upright seated position during transport. Detainees should not be transported in a prone position. The following guidelines concerning placement of detainees in vehicles should be adhered to whenever possible:

- All detainees being transported in Greenville Police Department vehicles will wear a seatbelt unless a medical condition prevents them from doing so or in the case of violent, resisting detainees where it is not feasible.
- Detainees shall not be placed in the front right seat, except as noted below.
- For all transports, personnel are encouraged to utilize vehicles equipped with a security cage for the transport of detainees.
- The number of detainees transported should be considered when determining the type and level of restraint to be used.
- When one (1) detainee is transported in a vehicle with a security cage, that detainee should be placed in the right rear seat, restrained, and in a seat belt.
- When two (2) detainees are transported by one (1) police officer, and the vehicle has a security cage, both detainees shall be placed in the rear seat, restrained, and in seatbelts.
- When transporting a detainee in a vehicle without a security cage, two (2) officers should be present during the transport unless otherwise approved by a supervisor. The assisting officer may sit in the front right or back left seat. However, the officer should be seated in such a position to ensure visual observation of the detainee.
- When transporting a detainee in a vehicle without a security cage and a second (2nd) officer is not available the detainee may be placed in the front right passenger seat or the right rear seat. The detainee shall be restrained and in a seatbelt for transport.

70.1.4 INTERRUPTION OF TRANSPORT

CALEA Standard: 70.1.4 (Interruption of Transport)

When traveling short distances, such as from an arrest site to a booking facility, the detainee shall remain within sight of transporting personnel. Detainees should not be bound and prone or "hogtied", and transporting personnel should be aware of positional and mechanical asphyxia. Detainees may become in need of medical attention and should be closely observed after restraining if the following signs are evident:

- Violent or combative nature
- Agitated behavior
- Abnormal strength
- Hallucinations
- Obvious alcohol or drug use
- Profuse sweating in the absence of physical exertion

If serious medical or emergency assistance for the detainee should become necessary during transport, the transporting personnel shall offer assistance in accordance with their level of training and shall call for medical assistance as necessary.

When a detainee transport assignment is of such duration that a meal break or rest stop is necessary, the location shall be chosen at random. The detainee shall not be allowed to participate in the selection process.

The primary duty of personnel transporting a detainee is the safe delivery of the detainee. Agency personnel assigned to transport a detainee shall stop to render assistance or otherwise perform a law enforcement service only when the risk to a third party is both clear and grave and the risk to the detainee is minimal.

70.1.5 PRISONER COMMUNICATION

CALEA Standard: 70.1.5 (Prisoner Communication)

Under most circumstances, communication between a detainee and others should be prohibited while a detainee is in the transport vehicle and during transport. However, circumstances may arise in which the transporting officer, arresting officer, or investigating officer believe that such communication may be operationally beneficial. Therefore, the ability of, and the circumstances in which, a detainee may be allowed to communicate with others while in custody and being transported in a City of Greenville vehicle is generally at the discretion of the transporting personnel, arresting, or investigating officer. If those circumstances arise, transporting personnel shall prohibit physical contact or the potential for physical contact and keep all parties under observation. If the potential for physical contact exists, transporting personnel should search the detainee and vehicle after that potential has been removed.

70.1.6 PROCEDURES, TRANSPORT DESTINATION

CALEA Standard: 70.1.6 (Procedures, Transport Destination), 70.1.8 (Notify Court of Security Risks)

Transportation to Police Department:

The following procedures will be used for all transports to the Police Department:

Parking:

- If available, transporting personnel will use either bay one or bay two of the sally port when arriving at the Police Department with an arrestee.
- If the sally port is unavailable, transporting personnel should pull as close to the bay doors as possible when arriving.

Prisoner security:

- Transporting personnel will call for a second officer to assist with prisoner escort before the arrestee is removed from the vehicle.
- If not already in the sally port, the transporting personnel will escort the individual into the sally port
- Utilize the provided hand-held metal detector to thoroughly scan the individual prior to moving them into any other part of the building
- Two officers will be used any time the arrestee is moved within the building.
- Once secured inside an interview room, one officer will remain in constant observation of the arrestee.

Weapon security prior to removing restraints:

- When utilizing the sally port, the transporting and assisting officer will deposit their service weapon and any back-up firearm in the lock boxes inside the sally port before escorting the arrestee.
- If the sally port bays are not available, the transporting and assisting officer will deposit their service weapon and any back-up firearm in any lock box inside police headquarters upon entering the building.

Medical Attention:

- If at any point prior to the transfer of custody of the arrestee at the detention center, the medical staff deems the arrestee needs medical attention outside of the scope of their authority, the Greenville Police officer shall call EMS to assist with the transport of the arrestee to the medical facility. The officer shall follow Greenville Police Department policy 70.3.2 Hospital Security and Control to ensure proper escort, security, and control of the arrestee.

- If any medical needs arise or are identified after the transfer of custody to the detention center, it is the responsibility of the detention center to handle and/or address those needs.

Transportation to the Pitt County Detention Center:

The following procedures will be used any time an arrestee is taken directly to the Pitt County Detention Center:

Prisoner security:

- One officer may escort the arrestee from the vehicle into the detention center
- If the officer chooses, they may request a second officer to assist with the escort to the detention center
- As necessary for safety and security, the officer may elect to use the sally port at the detention center
- The transporting officer may request the assistance of a second officer or detention center officers to move between the transport vehicle and the inside of the facility

Weapon security:

- Transporting personnel should utilize provided lock-boxes to secure all weapons prior to entering the Detention Center

Procedures for Officers upon Arrival at Destination

When transporting detainees to a detention facility or institution, Greenville Police Department personnel shall adhere to the policies and procedures of the receiving facility.

Prior to entering secure areas, police officers will store their weapons in lockers or other secured areas according to the procedures of the receiving facility. If the facility does not provide secured storage for weapons, Greenville Police officers should utilize the trunk of their police vehicles to store their weapons prior to entering secure areas.

Restraints should be removed from detainees in accordance with the established procedures of the receiving facility or otherwise at the direction of the individual accepting custody of the detainee. Police officers should be prepared to assist the individual accepting custody of the detainee after the restraints have been removed in case the detainee becomes violent. The police officer should provide assistance to the receiving facility to secure the detainee as necessary.

If there is a potential security risk or other risk requirement regarding a detainee being transported by the Greenville Police Department, transporting personnel should provide information about the risk to the individual, court or facility assuming custody of the detainee. Special circumstances may include:

- Potential risk of escape
- Suicidal or violent tendencies
- Particular personality traits
- Illness or medical condition

Police officers shall document such notification in the narrative portion of the arrest report. Transfer of custody to a detention facility, including date and time, committing magistrate, and place confined shall be documented on the appropriate arrest report.

70.1.7 PROCEDURES, ESCAPE

CALEA Standard: 70.1.7 (Procedures, Escape)

If a detainee escapes custody while being transported by departmental personnel, the following guidelines shall apply:

- Immediate notification of the Greenville Police Department Communications Center by radio or telephone with a description

- Immediate notification of the local law enforcement agency in the jurisdiction where the escape occurred, if outside the City of Greenville
- Immediate notification of the on-duty Watch Commander or supervisor
- Immediate notification to the Chief of Police

Reports to be prepared include:

- Greenville Police Department Incident Report (escape from custody), to be prepared by the Officer assigned to conduct the transport
- Memorandum to the Chief of Police through the chain of command from the police officer's immediate supervisor providing details of the incident
- Any other reports as directed by the Chief of Police, Bureau Commander, or appropriate supervisor

Further actions to be taken include:

- Notification of surrounding jurisdictions by the Communications Center
- Coordination of the search effort by the appropriate Greenville Police Department supervisor
- Notification as to whether the detainee is known to be armed or considered dangerous
- Activation of the Emergency Response Team at the discretion of the Chief of Police

70.2 Restraining Devices

70.2.1 DETAINEE RESTRAINT METHODS

CALEA Standard: 70.2.1 (Detainee Restraint Methods)

Under normal circumstances, all detainees shall be handcuffed behind their backs, with the handcuffs double locked, unless there are specific reasons for other action. Care should be exercised in applying handcuffs to avoid unnecessary injury to the detainee. There may be some instances where it is appropriate to handcuff a detainee in front of his body or not to handcuff at all. However, these instances are rare and such action should be justified by each officer. Under no circumstances shall a detainee be transported with hand and foot restraints connected together behind the detainee's body (hog-tied). When the occasion arises to transport a detainee who poses a known threat of escape, is violent or who is going to be transported over an extended period of time; leg irons should be considered.

70.2.2 SPIT SOCKS

Spit socks (also known as spit hoods) are transparent/mesh hoods which prohibit spitting, while at the same time allowing a prisoner to see and breathe freely. Spit socks are intended to protect personnel from exposure to bodily fluids and prevent contamination of another person or property.

Spit socks are available to sworn employees, as needed, for detainee transportation. Supervisory personnel have the socks available as standard equipment to issue to their personnel as needed. Replenishment will follow the normal supply replenishment through the quartermaster's office.

A spit sock may be used on a detainee any time personnel reasonably believe that an individual poses a threat to spit, has made attempts to spit, or has threatened to spit at an officer or other person. Any officer with knowledge that an individual is likely to spit, has a history of spitting on officers, or has communicable diseases, is required to share this information with other officers that are interacting in any fashion with the individual.

Application of the spit sock should be from a safe position behind the detainee. Officers placing a spit sock on an individual should document placement in the initial investigation or supplemental investigation. Should the individual be transported by an assisting officer, documentation of the spit sock should be noted on the corresponding supplemental report for the transport.

Upon arrival at the detention facility, removal of the spit sock should only occur once approved by facility personnel. If an individual is to be processed for GPD purposes, and the detainee is believed to be compliant, the sock can be removed and processing completed. If an individual is not cooperative, the transporting officer should make the appropriate notification that additional processing is to be completed once the individual is deemed compliant.

Only department issued spit socks are to be used. Spit socks are intended for one-time use, and at any point a sock is removed, it should be immediately disposed of using appropriate personal protection protocol.

70.3 Special Transport Situations

70.3.1 SICK, INJURED, DISABLED DETAINEE

CALEA Standard: 70.3.1 (Sick, Injured, Disabled)

Use of Restraints on Handicapped, Sick or Injured Detainees

Police officers should use discretion when determining the level of restraint to be used when transporting handicapped, sick or injured detainees. A police officer assigned to transport a handicapped, sick or injured detainee shall restrain the detainee to the degree the officer deems necessary to protect the lives, safety, and security of the transporting officer, the public, and the individual in custody. If a police officer is unsure of the level of restraint to use during transport, the police officer should contact a supervisor for guidance.

Use of Restraints on Mentally Disturbed Detainees

The transport of mentally disturbed individuals may require the use of restraints other than, or in addition to, handcuffs. Additional restraints used in any situation should restrain the individual securely without causing injury. If special restraints are required to transport a mentally disturbed detainee, a supervisor should coordinate with the Pitt County Detention Center or other facility to obtain use of the appropriate restraints.

70.3.2 HOSPITAL SECURITY AND CONTROL

CALEA Standard: 70.3.2 (Hospital Security and Control)

When a detainee in the custody of the Greenville Police Department is taken to a hospital or other medical facility, for treatment, examination or admission, the following procedures shall apply:

- The police officer assigned to escort the detainee shall request that the detainee be isolated from other patients.
- The police officer assigned to escort the detainee shall ensure that the detainee is not left alone, or otherwise unobserved.
- Restraints shall be removed only when necessary or when requested by the medical staff.
 - When restraints to be removed from a detainee, two officers should be present. Supervisory personnel may waive this requirement under limited circumstances at the hospital ER when a detainee has not exhibited any violent, resistive or otherwise aggressive behavior.
 - Officers may request soft restraints be placed on a detainee by medical staff prior to the removal of any restraints placed on an individual by law enforcement

If the detainee is admitted to the hospital, the police officer shall notify his supervisor who shall arrange for temporary security (first twenty-four (24) hours) and will notify the appropriate Bureau Commander so that plans for extended security can be made

- All overnight stays will require two officers to conduct the security detail.

- Any movement of the detainee through the hospital will utilize one officer in close proximity of the detainee and a second officer as the cover/security officer.
 - For room security, one officer will be positioned in the room with the detainee. The cover officer will be posted outside of the room.

70.3.3 SPECIAL SITUATIONS

CALEA Standard: 70.3.3 (Special Situations)

Transporting Detainees of the Opposite Sex

When a police officer is required to transport an arrestee or detainee of the opposite sex within the Greenville Police Department's jurisdiction or immediate area, the police officer shall:

- Upon beginning the transport, advise the Communications Center that an arrestee of the opposite sex is being transported, the starting location, odometer mileage, and destination.
- Upon the conclusion of the transport, advise the Communication Center that the transport has ended and provide the location and odometer mileage.

When transporting a detainee over a long distance, at least one (1) police officer or other appropriate escort shall be of the same sex as the detainee. If a detainee must use the toilet facilities during a long-distance transport, the transport officer(s) shall take whatever precautions deemed necessary to ensure the security of the detainee.

Transporting Handicapped Detainees

When a detainee requires special care and attention to accommodate a physical or mental disability during transport, the police officer assigned to transport the detainee, or a Greenville Police Department supervisor, shall arrange for any required special equipment or special vehicles needed to transport in a safe and secure manner. Special vehicles, such as an ambulance, shall be used when safe transportation cannot be accomplished in a Greenville Police Department vehicle. Medication and mechanical aids shall be kept in the control of the police officer assigned to transport the detainee.

Transporting Sick or Injured Detainees

Pursuant to North Carolina General Statute 15A-503(a), whenever a law enforcement officer arrests a person who is unconscious, semiconscious, or otherwise apparently suffering from some disabling condition, and is unable to provide information on the causes of the condition, the officer should make a reasonable effort to determine if the individual is wearing a medical alert necklace or bracelet. Regardless of the presence of a medic alert symbol, the officer shall seek immediate medical attention for individuals in their custody who become sick, are injured while in custody, or are injured while being taken into custody.

Transporting Detainees in Special Situations

Under normal circumstances Greenville Police Department personnel do not provide detainee transportation for any reason not directly related to a legitimate law enforcement activity, except as directed by a court or authorized by the Chief of Police. When such transports are authorized, the following procedures shall apply:

- The police officer assigned to escort the detainee shall search the detainee prior to placing the detainee in the transport vehicle.
- The transporting police officer shall use handcuffs and leg restraints unless the detainee is of such a condition that restraints would be impractical.
- The detainee shall remain within sight of the transporting police officer(s) until the transport is complete.
- Transporting officers shall comply with all normal policies and procedures regarding transporting, guarding, communications, and the release of detainees during special transport situations.

70.5 Documentation

70.5.1 DETAINEE ID AND DOCUMENTATION

CALEA Standard: 70.5.1 (Detainee ID and Documentation)

Transportation between facilities:

The Greenville Police Department does not routinely transport detainees between detention facilities, except as part of an active criminal investigation. Prior to transporting a detainee to, or accepting custody of a detainee from, a detention facility, the Greenville Police Officer assigned to transport the detainee shall verify the detainee's identification through booking records, identification numbers, photographs, or other appropriate means.

When traveling out-of-town or state for the purpose of extraditing detainees, different jurisdictions require different documentation for the release of detainees. Personnel should coordinate all extradition through the District Attorney's Office and should ensure prior to embarking on an extradition that all necessary certified documents are obtained. All extraditions shall require the authorization of the Chief of Police. In the case of interstate transports, the transporting personnel should at least have documentation of:

- Properly executed, certified copies, governor's warrant or waiver of extradition when appropriate
- Copies of receipts for the detainee and property
- Appropriate custody order or release order

Greenville Police Department personnel transporting a detainee shall ensure that the appropriate documentation accompanies the detainee during transport and will be delivered to the receiving facility upon arrival. Documentation, or at least copies of that documentation, should accompany the detainee. This documentation should include:

- Positive identification of the detainee, including photograph
- Arrest information
- Personal property information
- Information relating to the detainee's escape or suicide potential or other personal traits of a security nature
- Medical records
- Any other pertinent records
