ORLANDO HEALTH

Protect Your Valuable Content Assets and Save Money

One of Florida's largest hospital systems, Orlando Health, was struggling to find a document management solution that fit the needs of their growing organization. One full-time employee was managing the process, and relied on their intranet and email for collaboration and distribution. These policies included all of the procedural information associated with the operations of their facilities. This information is a source of competitive advantage for the organization. Anyone with network access, including staff, consultants and volunteers, could access these proprietary documents at any time —never knowing if they had the correct version. It was inefficient and a security risk. They looked at several solutions, even considering a labor intensive "build-your-own" system and then they discovered PowerDMS.

With PowerDMS, busy doctors and nurses can quickly search for whatever policy they are looking for and be assured they have the most up-to-date document. Robust security settings give them the peace-of-mind documents are secure and only accessible by those with permission. The process of updating, disseminating, and archiving policy documents has been decentralized and is no longer the responsibility of one individual. By implementing PowerDMS, Orlando Health has saved $40 - 60k a year or the equivalent of one full-time employee at this salary. They have also gained the security and efficiency of a solution designed for policy management.

| Problem | Solution |
| --- | --- |
| Inefficient, Unsecured Intranet | Central Repository |
| Paper Process | Paperless |
| Version Confusion | Version Control |
| High Risk | Protected Documents |

> "From a compliance and risk standpoint, PowerDMS has been a game changer. It's extremely easy to use and provides us with everything we need to efficiently manage our policies and procedures. It saves us a tremendous amount of time and has greatly increased accountability. The team at PowerDMS is receptive to customer feedback and uses it to constantly evolve the application. I would recommend it to any healthcare organization."
